

You Fool, Your Heart!

words and music
Vin Distefano

When you come to the end of the line

Something happens almost every time.

You're hurting so bad from the lover you had

And you can't get the girl off of your mind.

You know the pain don't go away, you just get used to it a little more each day.

It was her choice not yours, she just closed all the doors.

You feel in love now the time's come to pay.

Chorus

So you fool your heart. You say that "We're not apart"

You Fool, Your Heart! I'll say no, no, no, no, I mean you say,

"I wish, I hope, I pray we're not.

(break)

It only happens to the people on TV. She'd never leave you for another's company.

Time don't heal, you can't forget. You feel the same as yesterday.

It just feels normal now, the hurt won't go away.

When you come to the end of the line, something happens almost every time.

You're hurting so bad from the lover you had and you can't get the girl off of your mind.

You know the pain don't go away, you just get used to it a little more each day.

It was her choice not yours, she just closed all the doors.

She feel out of love, now the time's come to pay.

(Chorus)